

To whom it may concern,

If you're teaching for a riding school in which value for money, quality tuition and a considerate user orientated approach is desired I am happy to recommend Alder Rot Riding School! With the extra demands/considerations required to facilitate adults and children with special needs the feedback from our young people is very positive, good friendly atmosphere, confidence gained on the horses that appear to be happy and well suited to the users! It is through experiencing other establishments that I can give my personal recommendation to the instructor Christine.
